"CABIRIA."

What is admitted to be the greatest moving picture ever acted and shown on the screen is now at the Oliver Theater. "Cabiria," for that is the name of the 12-reel film, was shown yesterday matinee and night to large crowds and will be presented for the final time Sunday night.

While there is a great, big, gripping story told by the film, the success of the picture is largely due to the details which were incorporated in the play, regardless of expense. This part of the film called for much additional expense, but when the Italia Film company started working on the picture the directors decided it was to be their masterpiece.

The picture shows how battles were fought in the third century B. C. The destruction of the Roman fleet and Hannibal's crossing the Alps are two striking scenes in the play. The picture shows the march of the god of war before the days of monster cannons and quick firing rifles.

AT THE COLONIAL

The Colonial stock company will present for the holiday bill beginning this afternoon, "Tempest and Sunshine," a well-known comedy drama. This is a drama from one of Bertha M. Clay's popular novels and the romantic and adventurous story is one that has pleased many people in the past. The Colonial cast gives adequate representation to the many roles.

AT THE SURPRISE

Thursday's program at the Surprise features the local favorite, Miss Winifred Greenwood in a story of love and adventure entitled "Down by the Sea." It is a story of a girl and a fisher lad who are in love until the city man appears. There is much sentiment in some of the scenes. A two-reel picture entitled "The Jungle Master" is a story of African life in which Rex de Roselli, one of the Universal company's competent animal handlers, takes active part as a lion tamer. A splendid menagerie is shown and many animal pictures are taken in the wilds of a jungle. The bill is particularly pleasing for holiday crowds.

"HELP WANTED."

Dorothy Walter, who plays the leading character role in "Help Wanted," Jack Lait's comedy-drama of the business world, which comes to the Oliver Monday, Nov. 30, has had a varied experience in delineating "types." In "The Great Name," "The Lottery Man," "The Parisian Model" and "That's Wrong," she was cast in roles which gave her every opportunity to display her remarkable powers of characterization. In "Help Wanted," as the mother of Gertrude Meyer, she indicates, with a minuteness which reveals her knowledge of the types she depicts, the attitude of the east side mother, who wants her daughter to be virtuous, but not too sensitive to the advances of her employers. Miss Walter was born at Houston, Texas, and received her education at the Lutherville seminary at Baltimore, Md.

AT THE MAJESTIC

The new bill at the Majestic beginning with two matinees this afternoon is entitled "The Model Girl." It is a story of an irritable old man who attempts to seduce a husband for his daughter and has much difficulty with the many suitors because they do not come up to the standards he has set for a mate for his model daughter. Lora Lorraine plays the title role and will add her charming personality and elaborate wardrobe to the success of the character. Many musical numbers will be introduced including W. H. Hall in a spectacular Indian ballad, "My Forest Queen." Eddy Burns introduces "College Life" with the romping girl chorus. Nell De Yoe sings "My Tango Queen" with original dancing steps. Lucille Delmar in a special dancing number and other members of the versatile cast entertain in interesting specialties.

AT THE LASALLE

A special holiday program has been prepared at the LaSalle and includes five interesting subjects in one or more reels. Mary Fuller, a story of a girl supposed to be a maid when in reality she proves to be a princess, and Miss Fuller is said to be very interesting in the principal role. Series No. 10 of "The Trey O' Hearts" will be shown on Thursday and to those who have been following the picture it will be found most interesting while others who have not seen the other episodes will find a stirring drama completely told in a most thrilling manner. This installment is entitled "Steel Ribbons" and shows some exciting scenes along a railroad track. "The Strike at Coalville" is a splendid railroad drama told in one reel with Stanley Walpole as the young engineer who performs a wonderful feat of bravery in driving a train across a trestle. He wins the strike for the men and the hand of the charming Mildred Bright, his employer's daughter. "The Mutual Weekly" for this date shows latest pictures from the European war, a prize fight shown at Madison square garden, N. Y. and numerous other local events of interest. A Thanhouser comedy entitled, "Keeping a Husband" shows a domestic problem that is handled with a great degree of interest.

AT THE ORPHEUM

The Orpheum offers a special holiday bill a fine list of vaudeville features including the Belgian war pictures taken by staff photographers of the Chicago Tribune and now being shown in that city at the Studebaker theater. These are the first and only motion pictures of actual fighting on the battlefields in Belgium. They were taken by the permission of the Belgian government with the understanding that one-half of the receipts would be forwarded to the Red Cross relief fund. As if the Belgian battlefields were mirrored for you, these reels of sensational motion pictures will present many exciting situations in the European conflict as they actually happen. Armstrong & Clarke in their own musical composition will be featured on the vaudeville portion of the bill and Barto & Clarke will introduce their comedy singing and dancing specialties entitled "A Seaside Flirtation." Another comedy skit presented by Harry Ellsworth & Co. is entitled "The Silk Stocking" and is said to be full of humor and laughter provoking situations. Solis brothers in a musical comedy act and a Keystone farcial picture will complete the bill. Two matinees will be given today, one at the regular time of 2:30 and the other at 4:00 o'clock.

THE AUDITORIUM

The Auditorium management has provided an extra good bill for today headed by a two-act Essany featuring Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne, entitled "The Prince Party," a Vitagraph comedy with Wally Van; the Pathe Daily News full of interest-

Nearly 100 parcel post packages of perishable goods were received in the postoffice Wednesday morning for local delivery. These packages contained turkey and cake and pie and in fact all the good things that go to make up Thanksgiving dinners. The number was by far the largest that has passed through the office heretofore for Thanksgiving, showing that the public is learning of the value of the parcel post.
